

The intelligent home saves time and provides outstanding entertainment

i.life solutions demonstration room St Albans

i.life provide a comprehensive range of integrated technological solutions for the home. These solutions are often a unique blend of professional services, which include concept design, interior detailed design, quality engineering, project management, installation and systems support.

Here at i.life you will be able to consult with audiovisual experts, interior design professionals and experience the latest in new technology as it is launched. By visiting our demonstration facility, you will be able to gain important insights and feedback on products designed specifically to make your life more enjoyable.

The look, feel and characteristics of the room environment play a very important part in the overall performance of any lifestyle solution. Hence, Interior design, Lighting, Room acoustics and Bespoke furniture are all part of the integrated i.life range of service offerings.

We take great pride in delivering first class personalised solutions for a range of customers. We hope you find these details both useful and informative and we look forward to developing solutions to meet your specific requirements in due course.
